

How does this Grab You?

Mantis Shrimps are some of the most colourful characters in the sea, but we only have one known, rarely seen, species off the British coast, Rissoides desmaresti.

Photo R.Holt

The Solent is very rich in marine wildlife and the Mantis Shrimp has been recorded here for at least 150 years. Yet very little is known about the species lifestyle and ecology. Our aim is to find out which areas of the Solent they like best, and why.

Help us to find out more about this Solent Speciality

If you see one, please contact: Dr. Roger Herbert, Solent Mantis Shrimp Project
Medina Valley Centre, Dodnor Lane, Newport, Isle of Wight PO30 5TE
Tel: 01983 522195 Email: roger@medinavalleycentre.org.uk

Photo R.Holt

Adult shown
100 mm

Support through the Defra Aggregates Levy Sustainability Fund

Project Partners:
Hampshire Wildlife Trust
Wight Wildlife
Southampton Oceanography Centre
Isle of Wight Council
Southern Sea Fisheries
Fort Victoria Marine Aquarium